ON TWO NEW SPECIES OF THE TREMATODE GENERA, Opisthioparorchis Wang, 1980 AND Batrachotrema Dollfus and Williams, 1966 (Batrachotrematidae), WITH A REPORT OF A CHINESE SPECIES OF Opisthioparorchis FROM ANURAN AMPHIBIAN HOSTS IN INDIA

Veena Tandon, R. Imkongwapang and Pramod Kumar Prasad

Main article in Zoos’ Print Journal 20(6): 1883-1887; Manuscript 1255; © Zoo Outreach Organisation; www.zoosprint.org

Image 1-2. Batrachotrema nagalandensis sp. nov.
1 - Full worm, ventral view (scale 100mm); 2 - A magnified view of anterior end, showing the oral end and ventral sucker (scale 100mm).

Image 3-6. Opisthioparorchis indica sp. nov.
3 - Whole worm, ventral view (scale 100mm); 4 - Oral end, magnified view (scale 10mm);
5 - A magnified view of the tegumental spination in the mid ventral region (scale 10mm);
6 - Tegument of the posterior part of the body depicting conical spines (scale 10mm)